

HOUSE OF
TRAINING

Luxembourg, 23rd July, 2019

Information Security & Risk Management Programme Gaining Competitive Advantage with an Optimal Risk Management in Cybersecurity

Programme designed in collaboration with Securitymadein.lu (SMILE) and placed in the framework of the Cybersecurity Week Luxembourg

Luxembourg, 14th to 18th October 2019

Dear Madam,
Dear Sir,

Banks and financial institutions in general have been facing major cyber threats in recent years. Whatever their size, they are extremely attractive targets. They must invest in their technical and organizational means to protect their business and clients. Banks need to develop broader strategies to engage with governments, other banks, their clients and the public. Fintech continues to develop more complicated digital systems, which increase inter-connectivity and therefore the vulnerabilities also. The only efficient way to counter the risk emerging from this is to adopt proper security risk management practices to ensure the right investments are made. Decision makers must react and, most importantly, act pro-actively but how can this be done without the necessary understanding?

The House of Training, ATTF Luxembourg, has decided to provide assistance in this context by organizing a new multinational seminar for decision makers of ATTF partner countries. The primary objective of this programme is to make the link between cyber and risk management and to guide banks in how to face cyber threats and will address IT security, its opportunities, challenges and risks.

Our seasoned experts will give you the tools, which will allow you to decide where to invest in the technical and organizational means of your institution. Knowledge and know-how will be provided in order to help you protect your business & clients, develop broader strategies to engage with governments & clients and to adopt proper security risk management practices.

This programme has been designed and constructed in collaboration with Security Madein.lu (SMILE) <https://securitymadein.lu/> and is placed in the framework of the Cybersecurity Week Luxembourg - <https://www.cybersecurityweek.lu/>.

It will apply a learning by doing approach and offer you a valuable, rich and "must-have" experience.

When and where?

The Information Security & Risk Management Programme, supported by the Luxembourg Government, will be organized in Luxembourg from 14th to 18th October 2019 (arrival on Sunday 13th October, departure on Saturday 19th October).

HOUSE OF
TRAINING

The selection will be based on objective criteria such as the applicants' present function as well as their professional responsibilities and exposure (see target audience details below). Please note that to attend this seminar a sound command of English is required.

Who should attend?

Executive levels, directors and managers of IT and information security, risk and compliance directors, managers of audit functions of financial institutions, central banks or supervisory bodies of an ATTF partner country.

We invite you to have a look at the attached documents to get more details on the topics that will be covered.

To apply for the seminar, please fill in the attached application form and send it back by September 6th, 2019 to the House of Training-ATTF official partner in your country. Please note that the House of Training-ATTF will consider only fully completed forms.

Selected candidates will pay a contribution fee detailed in the "Financial conditions document" attached to this invitation.

Should you need any further information on the programme, do not hesitate to get in touch with us.

We look forward to welcoming you to Luxembourg for this challenging, innovative and customized programme.

Yours sincerely,

Luciele Milani
Project Manager

Ben Lyon
Director House of Training
Head of ATTF Services

Appendices: Organisation sheet
Financial conditions
Application form